5. CONNECTION

- Switch on your PC.
- Connect mouse to PC USB port*.

* Users need to wait for around 10-15 seconds before moving cursor at the first time usage.

- Press dpi switch button ③ to change for different resolution.
- Wheel light indicator has different colors for different resolution modes:
 - 400 dpi: Light off;
 - 800 dpi: Green light on;
 - 1600 dpi: Blue light on (on default);
 - 2400 dpi: Red light on.
- Users can change dpi setting from 400 to 3200 dpi installed on default with the software included.

! Tips for gamers

- Try default settings in practice before changing these settings.
- Practice using dpi switch button before engaging in a serious combat.
- In first-person shooter games it is better to program mouse only for two resolution modes, this way it will work better than using three or more. For shooting use smaller resolution (e.g., 400 dpi), and higher resolution (e.g., 2400 dpi) for quicker games.
- Customize dpi setting for each game according to your specific sensitivity switching needs.

6. SOFTWARE INSTALLATION

Put Software CD disk into CD-ROM. In the coming up window (see Fig. 2) select language and click «OK».

Fig. 2

- Select driver installation in «Gaming Mouse» window and click «NEXT».

Fig. 3

- Find destination folder and press «Install».

Fig. 4

- After successful installation click «Close».

Fig. 5

! Notes

- During software installation close Language Input Method. To avoid possible program conflicts, uninstall other mouse drivers before software installation.
- Gaming software automatically detects mouse connected to PC. After connecting mouse to PC, mouse picture appears in upper right corner.
- After successful software installation, quick launch icon appears in lower right corner.

7. SOFTWARE INTERFACE INSTRUCTIONS
